

HOLICK - KEYNOLD, LEBERMAN AS LEADERS FROM ANTARCTIC

Huge Crowd Lines Winnipeg Streets As Flyers Central Figures in King Parade.

WINNIPEG, May 11.—Two "veterans" of Canada's sky trails, the thrill of an adventure in Antarctic waters still fresh in their minds, looked forward to a return to their homes last night as they recovered from the exertions of an official reception.

Herbert Hollick-Keynold, who flew the first two days back in Winnipeg, put his feet on the ground with a constitution that was unbroken. He was followed by Leberman, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg.

After a day spent more or less quietly, the two flyers looked over a list of invitations and receptions that promised to keep them occupied for the next few days. The official part of their reception was held at the Grand Hotel.

A huge crowd lined Main street from the city hall to the legislative building to catch a glimpse of the two flyers. The police were screaming and the crowd was cheering. The two flyers were in a motorcade to be greeted by a group of friends.

Air planes whirled overhead to drop a warm welcome. Leberman, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg, who flew the last two days back in Winnipeg.

At night, the two flyers were treated to a banquet where the province and city were formally represented. The banquet was held at the Grand Hotel.

AN UNSOLVED MYSTERY

Mr. Justice Lumley, who investigated the circumstances of the Colburn mine disaster, was unable to state definitely in his report what caused the explosion.

Officials of the mineral organization, in a published statement, denied that the investigation found, and express the opinion that the ventilating mechanism did not keep the electric wiring having ignited gas in the mine. In support of this opinion, they state that the ventilating mechanism did not keep the mine free of gas, while the current carried on the wires of the signal system was higher than allowed by the mining law.

This obviously is an unsatisfactory position in which to leave the matter. Sixteen men lost their lives in the tragedy, which ranks as one of the major disasters in the history of the province, and requires that if at all possible the cause be ascertained with complete certainty. In other ways can the cause be ascertained? Every protection is needed to prevent a recurrence, there or elsewhere.

The Minister of Mines, it is to be supposed, will make note of these representations from the miners' officials, and take whatever steps may be necessary to test the soundness of the claims on which the conclusion is based.

THE SPRING MOVEMENT

With the arrival of warmer weather, that class of migrant Canadians who are pleasantly referred to as "bird tourists" have emerged from their winter quarters as they found and are again on the move, in numbers.

Gruesome evidence of this is supplied by the mangled bodies of two or three men killed within the last month in the Edmonton district while illegally riding on freight trains.

Ontario sends out notice that the Mounted Police are to patrol the railroads during the summer, in search of the elusive "bird tourists". The police have been doing that for five summers, and doing it with diligence. This notice is a practical admission that the "bird tourists" and police activity have at best only kept the practice, not stopped it.

Admission also that nothing has yet happened to the Government of the province, in the employment sufficient to deplete the ranks of the migrants by drawing them into wage-jobs. Lack of work and the hope of finding it somewhere, explains why many of the men take to the roads when spring comes.

The "job cuts" is the one remedy for reducing the Government of the province, in the employment tried on any scale wide enough to be effective, and it is the one remedy that has in it the element of hope. If parliament will not open up opportunities for employment, the decent pay attached, the patrols in the railway yards will not have very much to do.

THE CAPITAL OVER-LOAD

The railway committee of the House of Commons considered the question of cutting out the "deadwood" from the capital structure of the National Railway Commission, and the committee represent the facts, the "deadwood" is so serious enough to present a recommendation from the committee that parliament proceed to remove this dead weight from the railway structure.

If that were attempted, not more than a half dozen that there would be a battle royal between the House and the Senate, and the Senate. But the rectification will have to be made sometime, and the sooner the inevitable struggle is started the better the public should be pleased—particularly that system of public residing in parts of the country which are dependent upon the National for transportation, and whose progress is hampered by the National as an independent and competitive railway system.

It will be recalled that a couple of years ago a list of auditors who recommended the shutting down of the National's capital load to a proper figure were promptly "fired" by the Government. The day that the National's capital load, but the political enemies of the National are still in parliament and still on the job.

What is done in the way of relieving the National system of its capital load, it cannot have to carry, will indicate to what extent the change of Government marked the end of the policy of keeping that system in a tight position, and so hampered and encumbered that its enemies will be able to point—say to one point—out a huge annual deficit as proof that it should be abandoned or "re-organized" out of business as a going concern.

THE ONE REMEDY

The financial committee of the city council had an interesting discussion the other day on the possibility of paying civil employees part of their salaries in bonds. The scheme broke down when it was pointed out that the city commissioners headed the city off by saying if the city took bonds for taxes it would be short of cash.

A proposal to give relief men bonds in return for work done runs into the same difficulty: the bonds could not be turned into cash, and if the city accepted them on tax account it would be short of cash itself.

There isn't any substitute for money. Bank credit is only a conditional substitute, how "conditional" has been making itself apparent during the last six years. Credit slips, bonds, promissory notes, I.O.U.'s, all have to be pegged to money somewhere along the line, and it is the money value that determines their acceptability.

Deputy Mayor Foote hit the nail on the head when he said the one solution of the financial difficulty for the Dominion to issue new currency against a large program of public works. Or—the alternative may be suggested that the Dominion issue the new currency and then the demand for an eight-hour day of block of public bonds. One way or another, the only cure for scarce money is more money.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

I've been reading a discussion on big heads and geniuses. Also, we believe that the size of a man's dome is an index of his mentality is going into the discard along with belief in astrology and phrenology.

Yet there's something to be said for all of them. I recall in the days of my boyhood, a "professor" running his fingers through my now-departed locks and predicting that I would make a good paperhanger. And I remember a spiritualist seance in Toronto where the medium under the guidance told a neighbor of mine that his work had some connection with fire. Being in the ice business he was, of course, disappointed, but sure enough at the end of that week he was fired.

As the lady medium put it to the unbeliever: "Brother, the spirits always tell us right."

So many great men have had big heads—Napoleon, Cromwell, Gladstone, etc.—and a hundred others of first rank in fame—it seems reasonable to believe that a big head is a sign of a big mind. In the same way an astrologer could take the horoscopes of all of them and show that according to the conjunction of the planets at the time they were born their greatness was inescapable.

But for every man of high distinction who has an enormous cranium, another man of equal distinction with an average or small-sized head—Julius Caesar, Washington, Shakespeare, Newton, Douglas, or the Hon. Mr. Fallow.

So with astrology, convincing as it is in specific cases. On the very day the illustrious Gladstone died, the astrologer predicted that he didn't become statesman or general, poet, or musician, but who grew up to be waiters, taxi-drivers, reporters, and inspectors under the new 2 per cent. Taxation Act.

Even hereditarily doesn't explain genius, save in the observation that most men of distinction are elderly fathers of many children. The latter has a standing offer of $1,000 for anyone who will give him an authentic example of first rate eminence—other than military prowess—in any man whose wife was married before he was 40 at the time of his birth.

Our greatest English genius came from unpoetical birth, and even his mother was not an authentic example of all-round genius in the words—Leonardo da Vinci—was the illegitimate offspring of an illiterate peasant girl and an elderly Florentine lawyer.

The latest superstition is that genius is the result of abnormal activity of the thyroid gland. Viewed from that angle, genius is more or less the result of a disease—like Eddie Cantor's remarkable ones. What the old post of genius from observation is now being ascribed by endocrinologists from examination.

"Great will to madness keenly are allied, But thin partitions do their powers divide."

A correspondent who in turn corresponds with Major Douglas, writes me that in a recent letter on affairs in Alberta, Major Douglas expressed himself as follows:

"I am still of the opinion that Mr. Aberhart is a just tool. It seems impossible to avoid the conclusion that the whole situation was carefully framed up for the purpose of providing a Social Credit device."

"I do not personally know Mr. Huggill, Mr. Macdonald or Mr. Macdonald, but I am able to conclude that, together with the device by which the actual members of the legislature were chosen, the practical administration of the province has been carefully allocated, in order to manipulate the legal, the accounting and the mining aspects of Alberta's affairs."

Had Premier Aberhart maintained the necessary freedom and forcefulness, accepted the advice of Major Douglas in the letters which have not yet been made public by the Premier, and indicated some bondholders take payment in coal on demand, it might have meant a period of unprecedented prosperity to the province, and indeed many bondholders received the province of this portion of its debt. Apart from that, I fear Major Douglas allows his natural anger at the collapse of the Alberta experiment to embitter his judgment on the Alberta ministers.

Without doubt Premier Aberhart allowed himself to become the tool of eastern interests on his triumphal tour east after the election. Ministers must learn to "fear the Greeks when they bear gifts" and to be a mere tool of the sophisticated East in St. James Street was met him with congratulations and the offer of Mr. Major's assistance to straighten things up. How they must have enjoyed the fact that they fed him and loaded him up with compliments and Mr. Major.

But the Ministers named were selected for the purpose of wrecking Social Credit is beyond credence or reason. All three Ministers—and in particular Hon. Mr. Ross—have showed themselves to be hard-working and capable heads of departments. It may be remarked that not one of the three in the recent Legislative session offered any criticism or defence of Alberta Social Credit. Quite likely, none of the trio believes in it very hard. They are too trusting to the Premier as the fount of economic wisdom.

Once the Premier instituted Mr. Major as economic adviser, the Ministers were helpless. All they could do was to "keep the money" instead of under Social Credit principles. Under the handiwork imposed on them by the Premier they were unable to do anything but keep the money.

As it must be to Hon. Mr. Cockfield to impose 6 per cent taxes on babies' feeding bottles and diapers, and on the clothing and shelter of his supporters.

They are victims of the Mussolini-impulse of the Premier to dictate who shall be cardinals, and who shall be cardinals, and now goes it alone. As super-Tory ministers for reasons they cannot control, Honorable Ministers Huggill, Cockfield, and Ross are the kind of treason which Major Douglas alludes to them.

What Makes The Heart Too Fast?

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

I know that many of my readers will be encouraged to know that when the heart beats too rapidly, the cause is very often due to some cause outside the heart itself. In simple tachycardia the heart is beating too fast, but the palpitation is therefore not caused by heart trouble.

When the heart rate is speeded up the most likely offender is the stomach and distention of the stomach resulting from faulty habits of eating may very easily induce a pressure up against the heart. When the stomach is too full, either as the result of eating too much, or as the result of gas formation, it may crowd against the heart, and the heart responds to that mechanical pressure by becoming fast. Many times, the patient has learned through past experience that the taking of food too soon after a meal or some similar remedy will quiet down the stomach and the heart rate at the same time.

Dr. F. McCoy

Rapid beating of the heart may also be produced from toxic irritation. For example, when the body is in a toxic condition as a result of faulty habits of living, the blood will reflect the change away from the normal and as the blood changes through the heart, this organ will respond by becoming faster.

It is also possible of causing the heart to beat rapidly. The over-use of coffee, tea, and tobacco may likewise influence the heart in favor of excessive beating. Overtime, the excess secretion of the thyroid substance will cause a very fast heart rate.

Colitis is another possible cause of a fast heart. In such cases, the palpitation is reflex in nature and the action of the heart is increased through the influence of the sympathetic nervous system. Or, the heart may speed up as the result of a mild, chronic, low-grade infection. Such an infection may be located at the root of the lungs, in the stomach, within a taint, within a gall bladder that is not doing its work in a normal manner, or elsewhere.

Any chronic infection or disturbance low down in the digestive tube are the chief causes of tachycardia, or swiftness of the heart beat, and in importance, nervous disturbance. Undoubtedly, the symptom of palpitation is found very frequently among those patients who are conscious of being nervous. Such patients are under an underlying nervous instability which causes them to respond in an exaggerated degree to stimuli. They do not stand up well under excitement or emotional stress.

The emotions of fear and anger are the two which are the most powerful in bringing on a rapid beating of the heart, and this effect is produced through the effect of the emotions on the sympathetic nervous system and the ductless glands.

Patients whose heart is bothered by attacks during which the heart pounds too fast, it is a good plan to have the heart examined. When the report on the examination is that the heart is healthy, then by locating the cause of the palpitation and by removing that cause, you will be relieved to find that the attacks of tachycardia will stop their further and farther apart. By watching your diet and your elimination you will probably find that the heart will quiet down in a satisfactory manner and you will no longer be distressed by your previous symptom of a heart that races.

You are welcome to send for my article, WHEN THE HEART BEATS TOO FAST. If you wish to have it at home where you may read it over at your leisure. To obtain the article, send your name and address on a large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: A mother writes: "What causes excessive nose bleed in a girl nine years old? Last has had at least one nose bleed a day since the time she was three years old."

ANSWER: Your child probably has excessive nose bleed, in the nose, and the treatment may be necessary to bring about a firmness to these structures. Go to a doctor who uses local violet ray treatments. These treatments consist in raying the inside of the nose with the active ray. They would be similar to using concentrated sunlight. There is no need for your little daughter to continue to suffer with nosebleeds as it is quite possible to toughen the sensitive membranes.

THE OWL AND THE PUSSY-CAT
The Owl and the Pussy-cat went to sea
In a beautiful pea-green boat
They took some honey, and plenty of money
Wrapped up in a five-pound note
The Owl looked up to the stars above
And sang to a small guitar
O Pussy-cat! Pussy-cat! Quite contrary,
What a beautiful Pussy you are,
You are.

Pussy said to the Owl, "O elegant fowl!
How admirably neat you are!
Oh let us be married! too long we have tarried!
But what shall we do for a chair?
I've got one under the parlor chair,
To land where the long-pink grass

Centralization of Power At Ottawa

The reasons given by the Minister of Railways for creating a single harbor board located at Ottawa, composed of Deputy Ministers and Civil Servants and having power over all port development in Canada, have nothing to do with the facts of the case.

The British have given great study to harbor and port development, the overseas and coasting trades of Great Britain being properly classified as major national necessities.

It has been found in Great Britain that the one and only way to develop harbor and port development in a state of progress and conservation is by the creation of local harbor boards. Nothing else has worked satisfactorily.

The Port of London Authority, working almost in the shadows of the British House of Parliament at Westminster, has control of the river Thames and its docks and warehouses, one of the largest port, dock and harbor enterprises in the world.

At Liverpool the Mersey Board controls all port and harbor facilities in connection with Britain's great western metropolis.

The Tyne district, the Tees district, the Severn and Bristol Channel district, the Clyde Board and some one hundred and upwards of other port and harbor boards, exist as proof of the fact that local effort and control is the vital factor in a successful national system of port development.

A British engineer brought out to Canada in a consulting capacity reported last week that the present railway port system in Canada. Some people have asked him to get a centralized system adopted in Great Britain first.

The general charges published by the minister of railways would seem to indicate a necessary change in the type of citizen appointed to harbor boards, in short to take harbor boards out of politics.

The minister's statement that he has a book recording the duties of harbor board members would only prove that the system of appointments needed improvement. Possibly it would not even prove this, for the memory carries one back to the diary of Josephine, which had it been true, would have justified abolishing our present system of electing parliaments and selecting cabinets.

Josephine certainly set a lot of ears twitching and tongues wagging at Ottawa; but it finally was proved that Josephine was of the romantic type, with a yearning to go places and do things. Having no chance to go to the east, the entered in her diary those romantic things and episodes from which an unkind fate shut her out. Josephine was excused, and parliament survived.

In a country with two extensive ocean coast lines, some three thousand miles apart, and an intervening Great Lakes system, the growing of freshwater trade-carriage waterbodies in the world, the possibility of continuous development and conservation by a board composed of civil servants and located at an inland point, has only to be stated to show its utter uselessness.

In ancient times the philosophers were searching for queer things, such as perpetual motion. One of their searches was for a naked impossibility as a result of human action; that is something which must result in absolutely nothing doing.

Under a single harbor board, Canada may hope to attain this ideal whenever any harbor work is opposed by any railway company or bank or big corporation. You cannot even imagine a board of civil servants getting into a jam with any big interest continuously represented at Ottawa.

Surely there must be enough members at Ottawa to realize that Canada cannot afford the crippling restrictions that, for the contrary, there is urgent need for the use of many and diversified agencies of development and conservation. Appointing of high-grade people, regardless of politics will work any such remedy as may be required to correct past practices.

but she will have to leave behind all the wish-fuelling thought and the concept of a price system. Economics, that pathology that is not contained in itself any modulus or calculus of operation, must be discarded with the other historical antiquities. No political activity or decisions is adequate in continental Europe, where the political activity for the scientific technique of development, and the scientific technique of development, is receiving still even more difficult and delicate.

Under a price system wealth is created by the creation of debt. In other words, price system wealth consists of claims against the operation of the price system. Physical wealth, on the other hand, is produced by concrete, tangible, and useful forms and services. The process of the price system is the material of the results of the above conversion into complete uselessness, but to wear it out. To sum up, we do not require to study any new theories. Technology have the facts, and from them have created the point of the present price system of society on this continent. It is not to be put in effect as soon as the present operation of the price system can no longer operate, which according to facts taken from a study of the present price system of the debt structure, must be put in effect before the present system is past. So we conclude that the price system of the future should have used. "As long as the principle of the price system is maintained in the future, and distribution of goods, there is no way the world is inevitable any longer—wealth is inevitable."

RECORDING RADIO

Editor Bulletin: A problem of particular interest to the farmers of Western Canada at the present time is the siting and deliberation of the committee on the recording of the question of public broadcasting. We have now a number of years of national control of radio with a fair measure of success, and it is not surprising that the farmers generally are in the ranks of the radio government ownership and operation of this matter.

The U.F.A. convention of 1931 passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that the United Farmers of Alberta maintain a stand in favor of the establishment of a Canadian radio broadcasting company by the government."

Dragermen To Make U.S. Tour In Vaudeville

HALIFAX, May 11.—Selected dragermen who helped rescue two lives from the sea last night will go to New York and other cities in the United States for a vaudeville tour. Frank Lord, secretary of the U.F.A. Provincial Exhibition, announced Saturday.

The tour will start in Halifax with a display of rescue work and a lecture on the importance of life saving, given by Dr. D. E. Robertson, who was on the rescue boat. The tour will be followed by a lecture on the importance of life saving, given by Dr. D. E. Robertson, who was on the rescue boat.

sh. A variation account of all conversations with the imprisoned men they were finally released was kept by Coy. W. Henderson, head of the Porcupine rescue crew, from which this authentic account of the conversation of the trapped men to those about the ship operating with fear was obtained.

EXPLAINS MYSTERY

The mystery of why many of the trapped men lowered down the shaft were returned unharmed was first explained by Dr. Robertson, speaking to his brother-in-law, Mr. Henderson.

"We have to go down ladders which are not very strong," he said, "and then try and get the food, but our feet are in water. We will keep trying, if possible, and conserve our strength. Food does not matter for the next two hours, five or six anyway. How are Pauline (Mrs. Henderson) and the boys?"

"We are all right and not to worry."

Everything spoken into the microphone could be heard clearly by those on the one-way telephone was "Yes" Pauline repeated. By this means they would be returned to the ship.

"Will you get us out in six hours?" the surgeon asked his brother-in-law. "Yes," was the answer.

"Four hours?" "Yes."

"That's fine, now, Charlie, you are not going to let me?"

"We can stay where we are, then?" "Yes."

"We don't want to exhaust ourselves," said Dr. Robertson. "Our feet are weak and I'm making a dizzy on the ladders. Tell them not to worry. This is a very important telephone you sent us. We have all kinds of good drinking water here."

That was at 4:20 p.m. Time went on. At 4 p.m. Dr. Robertson's son, who was heard again, "Hello, Charlie (Voy). How are you? Will you take us out of here? Four hours?"

"Three hours?" "Yes."

"Are you going to get out of here today?" "Yes."

TOLD THEM TO BLAST

An hour and a half later Dr. Robertson again spoke. "Are they coming?" he asked. "Yes," they replied. "Charlie, we can hear them. We were the troublemaker. A little later the surgeon returned to the microphone. "If you want to blast the hell out of them, blast the hell out of them!"

Again and again Dr. Robertson and Scadding seemed to know that it would be before the rescue workers would be through to their prison. "Count the hours it will take to get us out of here. Scadding told me the reply."

"It has been one hour for the last two hours," he said.

Scadding took the vigil at the top of the shaft. "Two hours," he said. "Scadding took the vigil at the top of the shaft. "Two hours," he said.

Thin Women Should Gain Extra Weight

By GLADYS GLAD

Back in the sixteenth century, it is said, the Empress Theodora, wife of Emperor Justinian, passed virtually all of her time in her bath. Therefore, it seems, had the idea that continuous bathing would increase her plumpness and heighten her charms. So she spent each entire day in her bath, leaving it only to eat and to go to bed at night.

In this day and age of streamline figures, most women are trying to become thinner, rather than plumper. But there are quite a number of girls just the opposite who would like to acquire a little added plumpness. Curves aren't out of style yet, you know, and while slenderness may be a requisite of figure beauty today, soft, puffy-looking figures are also essential. Slenderness doesn't mean skininess by any means.

Calorie counting is an effective method of increasing body weight. Of course, calorie counting for this purpose has both its good and its bad points. The woman who hasn't much spare time at her disposal, and who dislikes to plan her own menu, would probably find it unsatisfactory. For her, a gaining weight routine that is fully outlined, such as the one in my "New Figure" booklet, is best. But some women get a great kick out of planning their menus and eating their calories, and if they do it properly, a most pleasing increase in weight can be effected.

FIRST THING TO DECIDE

The first thing you must determine when trying to gain weight by this method, is how many calories your daily diet should contain. If you're a normally active woman, your normal intake of food should range from 15 to 20 calories a day for each pound of your normal weight. If, for example, you should weigh 130 pounds, your diet should represent from 1950 to 2600 calories a day. If you wish to gain weight, therefore, you should increase your intake of food by about 1,000 calories a day.

The second thing you must consider is what foods you're going to add to your diet, in order to increase the number of calories it contains. Keep in mind, when planning your menu, that your body needs protein, mineral salts, bulky foods, and vitamins. Remember, just as you would overeat on rich, fatty and starchy foods, eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables. Plan a well-balanced basic diet. And in this basic menu add the sweets, fat and calories that will increase the caloric content of your diet, and help to round out the contours of your figure.

What To Do

I am one of the directors of our women's club and I am planning to entertain the officers and directors at a breakfast before we depart for the Summer. Can you suggest some unusual decorations for this get-together?

MRS. E. C. JONES

Answer—Why not have your decorations of fruit and flowers—a combination for a breakfast table that is irresistible? If you feel like color all about you, use the color of the predominating color in your china and choose the linen and decorations to further accent. For instance, if your china has pink floral designs, then have a pink tablecloth. You do not have one? But you've very quickly transformed a white damask cloth into any of the lovely pastel tones by dipping it in one of the temporary cold-water dyes. And with this color you have apple blossom or pink tulips for the centerpiece and so you won't get too much pink on the table—just fast bowls or baskets with ivy leaves and fill them with luscious roses and daisies and place them on either side of the centerpiece. And your guests would give your table just the right finish.

Mother's Objections Should Be Overcome

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a man 35, living at home with my widowed mother, who is a middle-aged woman in fine health and financially independent. My trouble is that my mother insists that I must never marry, but must always stay with her. Every time I have ever gone with a girl she has had a fit. Now I am in love with a splendid young woman and we want to be married, but when I try to talk the matter over with my mother she works her nerves into a passion of fury and cannot allow the girl even to come near me. I love my mother very much and want to do everything I can to please her, but I also love this girl and she loves me. What can a man who is in only one of these positions do? The circumstances are still the same. His duty all around?

Dorothy Dix

Answer: He can act with some courage and common sense and the part of a man, instead of a frailty boy. You can refuse to let a selfish and tyrannical old woman ruin your life and that of your fiancée by the utterly unnecessary position she has taken.

Your mother married when she was young. She had the happiness of having her own mate, her own home, her own child. She must have known that she was not to be a mother-in-law, but a mother. She must have known that she was not to be a mother-in-law, but a mother. She must have known that she was not to be a mother-in-law, but a mother.

What New York Is Wearing

By Helen Williams

2880

Here's a charming model to sanderize the figure. Why not make it now? The dress will soon be along when "well be too hot for strenuous sewing." Yet you will appreciate a nice cool frock to slip into.

It has cool V-neck and cap-like sleeves, which makes it very simple to wear. The big jacket detail is a unique bodice detail. It may contrast in color and fabric.

White shore cotton print made the original look. Linen and rapid tub silk are also suitable.

Style No. 2880 is designed for sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 and when provided alone, it requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for bodice and 1 1/2 yards for skirt.

Be sure to visit plainly your NAME ADDRESS STYLE NUMBER and SIZE when ordering. Our LATEST FASHION FIFTEEN CENT STORE, 1515 10th Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, will deliver your order, carefully wrapped, or stamp your order, and we'll ship it for you.

GOVERNMENT'S PROBLEMS ARE PEOPLES' TOO

Hon. E. C. Manning Reveals Growing Departure From Old Attitude

Growing appreciation on the part of the public at large of the fact that matters of concern to the government are of equal concern to the people as a whole, was stressed by Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry and provincial secretary, in speaking before the Edmonton Progressive Bible Conference at the Grand theatre on Sunday evening.

NEW LETTERS

Many letters were read to us that indicate a departure from the old attitude of the public, that problems of state were the worries only of the government," he said. "These letters were distinctly about people who are interested in the problems of the government, and in the problems of the people."

"This is a proper attitude. It indicates that the people are taking an interest in the problems of the government, and in the problems of the people."

Hon. Mr. Manning said that the desire of the conference was that the meetings should be held in the future in the discussion periods when ample material would be available to provide the people with the information they need in their study in its application to the problems of everyday life.

INEVITABLE CRISIS
For his address the minister took as his topic: "The Inevitable Crisis." He declared that the world today is in a probationary period of age and grace and was passing an inevitable crisis.

At intervals during the service the conference quartet provided musical numbers.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By PAUL HARRISON.

A SMALL amount of ready cash, tendered to the right people, will get anybody the private telephone number of any movie star. Talking to the star, though, is a difficult matter. The second time of the day celebrities are in the vicinity of servants, secretaries and agents.

"This Breed of Men? Anyway, it is to be a western on the traditional 'D' model. I wonder whether they've thought of hiring Fede Gine, composer of the grand 'Grand Canyon Suite,' to write the music. The picture maker whom Hollywood has been too long without."

The truck men hid the last good-bye and drove away. One shouted, "I am sure that you can walk back and you'll get a lot of tuncy."

It was the best plan Duncy knew while and then he shouted, with a smile, "Oh, so you know the prospecter? I wouldn't let."

"When he finds out that you are lost, he'll locate you at any cost. He always takes care of his friends and he will now, I'll bet."

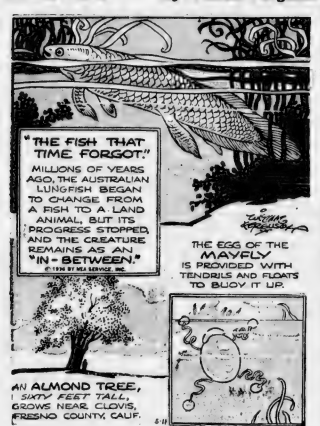

Just then they heard a whirling sound and, as soon as Duncy looked down, he saw a bird come swooping down. It gave the last a scare.

The strange man cried, "I told you so. That's the prospecter's bird, I know!" And then the bird grabbed Duncy and away they went, through air.

(Duncy takes a long drop in the next story.)

Curious World

"THE FISH THAT TIME FORGOT" MILLIONS OF YEARS AGO, THE AUSTRALIAN LUNGFIN BEGAN TO CHANGE FROM A FISH TO A LAND ANIMAL, BUT ITS PROGRESS STOPPED AND THE CREATURE REMAINS AS AN "IN-BETWEEN"

THE EGG OF THE MAYFLY IS PROVIDED WITH TENDRILS AND FLOWS TO BUOY IT UP

AN ALMOND TREE, I SINKY FEET TALL, GROWS NEAR CLEVELAND, OHIO, CALIFORNIA, CALIFORNIA, CALIFORNIA

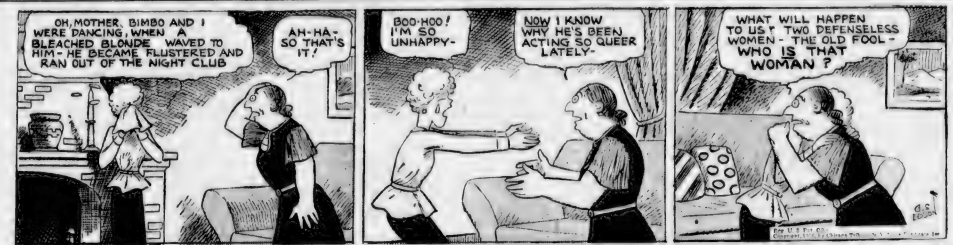

The lungfish is known today as a "living fossil," a creature that is a sort of hang-over from prehistoric ages. It has evolved in the direction of land animals, but never has become one. When a stream of water dries up, the lungfish curls up in the mud at the bottom, to wait for the water to return—being able to breathe by means of its single lung.

MERE WOMAN IS BEST MAN

MARLENE DIETRICH

SUN-SCORCHED DESERT FAILS TO BEST STAR

Marlene Dietrich Only Collapsed Once and Had Hysterics Twice

YUMA, Ariz., May 11.—The best "man" among 200 sun-scorched studio workers, making a movie in the desert near here, is a mere woman, Marlene Dietrich, who has only collapsed once and had hysterics twice.

That's not much, considering 200 caravans and a dozen died and 10 men required complete hospitalization in the past three weeks. They went down under the crushing heat while some stars soaped up to 140 degrees.

SUN FEROCIOUS

The sun is ferocious. There are snakes in the sand dunes. The whole area is alive with scorpions, gad-flies and other creatures. Desert and typhoid have joined the unholy menagerie, and close more damage than all the rest put together.

Through all this, Mrs. Dietrich moves cool, serene, apparently untouched.

Bomb Is Fatal

PREMIER ABERHART WILL RETIRE AT END OF ONE TERM

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 RESUMES PRISON LIFE

William Mahan Given 60-Year-Term for Weyerhaeuser Kidnapping

TACOMA, Wash., May 11.—A prison without walls, giant William Mahan resumed as a kidnapper Sunday the convict life he first learned of a bank robber.

He began a 60-year-term—quite a job was his word for it—after getting guilty Saturday to the $200,000 ransom kidnapping of little George Weyerhaeuser, timber fortune teller.

ESCAPE PROOF
The seat-faced Mahan started his term at McNeil Island, regarded as "escape proof" because it is in Puget Sound.

Mahan, captured last Thursday in San Francisco, pleaded guilty Saturday to two "kidnaping" law, kidnapping counts and was sentenced immediately. Two hours later he was in prison.

OTHERS SERVING TIME
On black Alcatraz Island, in San Francisco Bay, Herman Weyer, a confederate of Mahan, already has served nearly a year of his 40-year sentence for the same crime.

In Milan, Mich., woman's prison, Margaret Wiley, the third gang member, has served about an equal amount of her 30-year sentence.

Only one suspect remained unarrested—the whereabouts of some $60,000 of the $200,000 ransom, exacted from J. P. Weyerhaeuser for his son's release.

TROOPS LAND IN PALESTINE
JERUSALEM, May 11.—A battalion of Royal Scots Fusiliers arrived at Lydda from Egypt Sunday to reinforce British troops maintaining order during current Arab-Jewish disturbances.

Authorities determined to suppress terrorism activity in an Arab general strike, the Police Agency reported yesterday, sentenced 17 Arab men to six months imprisonment for attacking the Arab foreman of a Jewish orange plantation in an effort to compel him to join the strike.

NEGUS GIVES REASONS FOR FLEEING LAND

Declares His Presence in Ethiopia "Constituted a Real Menace"

JERUSALEM, May 11.—Emperor Haile Selassie suffered a heart attack here today. Members of the Negus' entourage declared his condition was "satisfactory" at present. They denied rumors current in the city that the Negus' health was broken by a gas attack suffered in the fighting in Ethiopia.

DECLARES HIS PRESENCE IN ETHIOPIA "CONSTITUTED A REAL MENACE"
JERUSALEM, May 11.—Emperor Haile Selassie in a statement Sunday explaining for the first time his flight from Addis Ababa said he left in order "freely to pursue our efforts to safeguard the independence of Ethiopia." The palace news agency reported.

The emperor also asserted his continued presence in Ethiopia "constituted a real menace" to foreigners there.

EMPEROR LEAVES
The emperor, looking sadder than any time since he touched the shores of Palestine Friday, received newsmen in the King David hotel. Clad in white shamma, shoes and trousers, the Negus looked on with weary eyes at his press direct on read a statement.

The statement declared the morale of the Ethiopian was maintained until the Italian started using poison gas and "other inhuman" methods of warfare.

CONSTITUTED REAL MENACE
"Our presence in Addis Ababa or any other place in Ethiopian territory," the statement said, "constituted a real menace, not only to ourselves or our population but also to the numerous foreigners in Addis Ababa, which the bombing of the open town of Harar had already proved."

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—Sheriff M. A. Pomeroy announced Sunday that Mrs. Maggie Church had confessed a statement, admitting she killed her husband, George Church, 35, by cutting his throat with a razor while her son, William, 15, held his hands.

Let's go TO VANCOUVER

TO VANCOUVER'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

Let's take the whole family this summer to Canada's Evergreen Playground... where snowy peaks rise above the forest monarchs and the sun dapples miles of warm, sandy beaches... where the salty tang of the sea braces you... where velvety green golf courses beckon... where a city is a feast for ten golden weeks, commemorating 10 years of achievement. And entrancing side trips... inland water cruises... the famed Cariboo Highway... mountain and seaside resorts.

Your travel agent will tell you about rail, steamer, bus or aeroplane fares.

VANCOUVER 10 weeks of Celebration
